WPSC and APSA (2001 - 2022)

"Two Decades of Dynamics Movements and Engagements"

- 2001 - the first World Planning Schools Congress (WPSC) was held in Shanghai, China, hosted by Tongji University, under the joint sponsorship of the Asian Planning Schools Association (APSA), the Association of Collegiate Schools of Planning (ACSP), the Association of European Schools of Planning (AESOP), and the Australia and New Zealand Association of Planning Schools (ANZAPS)
- 2003 - The Global Planning Education Association Network (GPEAN) was formed by nine planning education associations, including Asian Planning Schools Association (APSA). Up to now, there are at least 550 planning education institutions worldwide, which are grouped into 11 regional planning education associations – all are GPEAN members.
- 2016 - the fourth WPSC in Rio De Janeiro
- 2017 - the 14th APSA congress was held in Beijing, China - has decided that ASPI, The Indonesian Planning Schools Association, would be the host for the 16th APSA Congress in Bali, Indonesia
- 2022 - would be marked as the year of two decades of the WPSC. In addition, 2022 would also be the six-year after the New Urban Agenda/The NUA signed in Quito in 2016.
